FARMER'S WIFE SUBDUES A CRAZY MAN BY HYPNOTISM.

Gets Him Into a Stupor and Keeps Him So While She Drives Him to Prison.

Los Angeles, Sept. 14.-Mrs. Johanna Gertz of this city has just done a most extraor linary thing. When a madman rushed into her house and seized her in his grasp, she adroitly diverted his attention until she ould get her frightened children safely un der lock and key. Then she coolly proceeded to hypotize the maniac, and, after getting him under coatrol, put him into a carriage and whisked him away to the proper author without police protection.

Madmen and other intruders and hypnotism were far from Mrs. Gertz's thoughts the other day as she busied herself about her household tasks. Suddenly the door was thrown open and a haticss, wild-eyed man rushed into her kitchen. He grasped her by the arm and thrust her against the wall.

Mrs. Gertz looked the man in the eyes and quietly asked him what he wanted.

"Where's Tom?" he shricked.

She pointed through the open door,

"He is out there in the field," she answered pleasantly.

The demented creature at once darted through the doorway and made for the field.

Mrs. Gertz realized that she had a crazed man to deal with. Instantly she called her

The demented man had come back from the field and was prowling about the barnyard. When he saw Mrs. Gertz coming he walked to the gate and stood waiting for her. She looked at him steadily for a moment and then turned and walked to the front fence. The man followed her.

Mrs. Gertz called across the road to her neighbor. Mrs. Fisk. Mrs. Fisk's little girl had, in the meantime, told her mother that there was a crazy man in Mrs. Gertz's yard. When Mrs. Fisk heard Mrs. Gertz calling she caught up a rifle and ran to her neighbor's heip. Mrs. Gertz shouted to her to put down the rifle, as there was no need of it. She was using a more potent agency. The rifle was set down and the women, unarmed, set to work to subdue the maniac. Mrs. Gertz ordered him to sit down. He obeyed at once. She spread her palms over his forchead and almost at once he fell back as if in a doze.

forchead and almost at once he fell back as if in a doze.

Mrs. Fisk went to work with horses and harness and soon had the family carriage ready to take the man into town. Mrs. Gertz took him by the arm and ordered him to get into the carriage and sit on the floor between the seats. He obeyed implicitly. The two women seated themselves in the front seat, Mrs. Fisk driving and Mrs. Gertz keeping her hands spread hypnotically over the man's forehead.

The drive was a long one. Several times the man became restive and wanted to jump from the carriage, but Mrs. Gertz succeeded in controlling him until she landed him in the city prison.

Arkansas City, Kas., Sept. 14.—Quite a sensation was created in this city last light when a local jeweler drew the curnight when a local jeweler drew the curtains from his show window. He had advertised that he would show something of interest, and there were about 1,200 people on the streets in front of the store when the window was ready to be opened. It showed a man representing Czolgósz, sitting strapped in an electrical chair in a prison ceil. Two officials stood by, and at intervals one pressed the lever which turned the electrical current into the dummy. The sparks were shown, and even the twitchings of the body were represented, making a most realistic scene. When it was first shown the crowd cheered the sight wildly, and for two hours they stood and watched it.

Charges Jack Williams, Billy Condon and Louie Fingerlin With Wrecking His Flat.

Jack Williams, "Dutch Louie" Fingerlin and William Condon, the two former of whom were connected with the shooting of Joseph Graham a month ago, were arrested yesterday morning, charged with heading a Smith, demolished the furniture and departed with about $75 worth of wearing apparel early yesterday. Smith and Fingerlin are avowed enemies and came to blows last Wednesday night at Twenty-third and Chestnut streets. It is believed that the "gang" went to Smith's couse with the intention of "doing him up." Smith heard their approach. When the leaders of the crowd reached the rear door of the house, Smith, clad in night attire, disappeared over a back fence and sought the shelter of a friend's house. In his retreat Smith left the rear door to his flat open. The crowd ran in and one opened the front door, Others then made their entry. With pistol butts and other their entry. With pistol butts and other weapons they shattered ornaments, broke mirrors, tore apart chairs and tables and burst open a wardrobe. They took the clothing from the latter, and what became of the apparel is not known. Smith has not seen it.

Officer Docley of the Central District reached the house, with two other officers, a few minutes after the "gang" had left. On information supplied by Mrs. Hettle Smith, who claims to have recognized the three men arrested, and by Eva Hinrichs, who lives on the second floor of the St. Charles street house, and who says that she saw Jack Williams in the crowd, the efficers made their report, mentioning the names of Williams, Fingerlin and Condon.

The trio were released a few minutes after arrival at the Four Courts on bond farnished by Chris Schawacker. The bonds read for "any charge that may be preferred."

HEARKEN YE

To the Voice of St. Louis People.

If you will but listen to your friends and neignbors, they will tell you how the pains and aches of a bad back, the annoyance of urinary troubles, the nervousness, the restlessness that come from kidney ills, can be relieved and cured. Read what one St. Lints citizen says:

Mr Albert Frank, Journeyman Timer, of 468 Clark avenue, says: "Since I was 22 years of age I have been subject to attacks of kidney complaint. They mostly occurred in winter or during inclement weather, when I was always sure to catch cold, and it settled in my loins. I have been so bail that I could not work and hardly get up or down, and every move I made which brought a strain on the muscles of the back meant severe torture. In addition to the above acute trouble with the kidney secretions existed. When I went to the Woiff-Wilson Drug Co's for Doan's Kidney Pilis I was suffering. I don't know whether the treatment cured that particular attack, or whether it disappeared mysteriously like others had before, but I do know since I stopped the treatment there has not been a symptom of a recurrence."

For sale by all dealers, Price, 59 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.
